But while Tso had some of the faults of his nationality, and in war showed a sanguinary spirit, be was in his home administration always actuated by a strict sense of justice. He was also, what few Chinese mandarins of the firm's money. are, incorruptibly honest, and though he held very high offices, remained to the last a comparatively poor man. He was respected but not too well liked at Court, his blunt manners and caustic advice not being al ways acceptable. While in some senses inimical to foreigners and opposed to innovation, he was not blindly hostile to improvements, as his well meant attempt to establish cloth mills worked with European machinery at Lanchow-fu and his, extensive system of afforestation in Kansuh bear witness. During the Franco-Chinese difficulty he was, as might have been expected, strongly in favour of prosecuting the war with vigour, and he would probably have preferred holding out to the bitter end. REMINISCENCES OF THE DRAGON FESTIVAL Chenny Sik Wo, fishmonger, was charged with having been concerned, with others not in custody, in assaulting the police in the execution of their duty on the 4th inst. Chinese P.C. 162 stated that on Friday evening he was on duty in West-street, and saw the people there firing crackers. He told them that they were not allowed to do so. The defendant, who was there, thereupon called to the people to beat witness, and he was pelted with a shower of stones and other missiles. He had to beat a retreat into a teashop, but the crowd surrounded the shop, and clamoured that he should be given up to them. The teashop people then pushed him out into the street, and he had to run the gauntlet of the crowd to make his escape. He was being chased by the crowd when he fell in with Sikh P.C. 605, who went to his assistance, and the latter stated that he also was pelted, and was struck by a stone thrown by the defendant. He then seized the defendant, and got him to the Station.

His Worship fined the defendant $2, or in default a week's hard labour, and he was also required to find one surety of $25 for his good behaviour for a month, or in default to be committed to gaol. The case to be mentioned again he was on duty in Bonham-Strand, and at 11.30 ho went to one of the side shows where he heard music going on, and he told the performers to cease work for the night, as it was past the hour allowed by the permit. The first defendant, who was one of the audience, raised a cry to beat the lokang, which the crowd complied with, apparently with much gusto, and he had to run for it. He blew his whistle as he ran, however, and the sound brought Sikh P.C. 523 to his assistance. The second defendant threw a stone which struck the Indian, who at once arrested him, and the first defendant was also secured. The defendants were dealt with in the same way as the offender in the previous case.

Three Chinese who were taking part in a performance of their own in the shape of a free fight in the Pc Lok Theatre on Friday evening, were required to give security in $5 for their good behaviour for a month, or in default to be committed to gaol for that period.

Pedro Tuna, musician, of Macao, was charged with stealing a jacket, value $1, the property of a fireman named Warsumma, who lived in the same house with him.
